VioMe's struggle

Greece was hit hard during the financial crisis in May 2011. At that moment the factory of VioMe went bankrupt and the workers after months of unpaid work were fired without receiving their due and without any compensation. They chose to stand up for their rights and took a series of actions. Their main decision was to become the bosses of their own lives. They occupied the factory and they decided to run it in a direct democratic, self-organized way. So, the first thing they did was to radically change the type of products the factory produced. They decided to start producing environmentally friendly, biological soap products and to sell them directly to the people without any intermediators. After efforts of two years, the first soaps were out in 2013. Since then, more products have been added to the production and are currently sold in Greece and abroad.

Why should you buy soap from VioMe?

There is a numbers of reasons for buying soap from VioMe. The first one is international solidarity. The workers of VioMe make a living out of producing soap products in an occupied factory which is run in a direct-democratic way. The second one is environmental. The factory of VioMe used to produce tile adhesives, after its occupation, this was radically changed and it now produces environmentally friendly, biological soap products. The third one is the direct relation between producers and users. The workers of VioMe sell their products directly to the people. We know well that such actions are not enough for smashing capitalism, but this is one of the minimum things we can do.
